“New Flyer has been utilizing MOM for all our workers' compensation and drug/alcohol testing for the past six years. We have been very satisfied with the professional staff and personal service offered to both the company and our employees. The physicians talk directly with us to resolve issues involving returning employees to work. They are very adept at understanding the many facets of work related injuries.”

Midwest Occupational Medicine: Your Partner in Health Care

At Midwest Occupational Medicine, we provide an array of services to enhance your employee health, safety and productivity. Our practice is limited to Occupational Medicine, so we bring expert advice combined with years of experience to every business we serve.

Work Related Injuries and Compensation

As specialists, we are knowledgeable of regulatory guidelines regarding the treatment and reporting of work-related injuries. Despite your best efforts at prevention, accidents do happen. We offer expedient care and claims management, and work closely with you to get your employees back on the job as soon as medically possible.

Prompt care and communication are key to the well managed workers' compensation claim. Our process for claim management ensures a time-effective, cost-controlled outcome. First, patient care is provided, in most cases, on the same day. Next, if needed, the employee is referred to a specialist, and scheduling is facilitated. Finally, a report is sent to the employer, via employee. The report offers a diagnosis, treatment, work restrictions, follow-up appointments and any special care needed.
